Question 1.

What is the type of connector for airplane – could you clarify ?

Answer 1.

The connectors for airplane are standard connectors 400 Hz and 28 VDC. Since I didn't understand for what GPU type question to be related, we will answer for both connector types.

Question 2.

For the GPU 70 KW is stated only that output is 28 VDC, do you have information about generator, this is only engine power stated ?

Answer 2.

Regarding a generator – we didn't pre-define generator type – it must be able to enable sufficient energy equivalent for adequate output continual current, by defined output voltage, moreover, a redundancy of energy which should to ensure defined peak current for safe start of DC aircraft types. Normally, a generator should be accommodated with drive engine unit ... So, the output must be "clean" 28 VDC with adequate, in tender documentation, stated current performances.
